SIMPLE AND EFFECTIVE GUIDANCE TO ADDRESS THE REQUIREMENT FOR EMPLOYERS TO AUTOMATICALLY ENROL THEIR WORKERS INTO A WORKPLACE PENSION

Automatic enrolment into workplace pensions has been here for over five years. Every employer must comply with their duties.

Hefty fines can be levied if you don't do this.

Don't put it off or get it wrong; if you were in business before October 2017, you will have passed your staging date and you should have complied; if you are a new business your duties will begin as soon as you employ someone.

Well over 1m employers have 'staged' or complied, with a further 0.5m still to do so.

“If you are an employer, auto-enrolment affects you. The Pensions Regulator is carrying out spot checks for compliance; don't be named, shamed and fined. If you haven't already done so, act now.”

Automatic enrolment into a workplace pension scheme affects every employer, even if you only have part-time, temporary or seasonal workers. You must have a suitable pension scheme to enrol your workers into. You must write to all your workers to tell them they are being enrolled. You must deduct contributions from their pay and also pay contributions yourself. You must do this within set timelines. If you fail to do all of this properly you may be fined – for every day that you are non-compliant.

This is where we come in.

Auto-enrolment is a process – it has a number of stages and things that must be done, but it is still simply a process. Get this right and you will get auto-enrolment right. Our low cost fixed fee answer to this, which we call 'AE delivered', takes care of the process for you, delivering a fully compliant solution which is tailored and right for you and your workers.

Concerned that you may not have complied properly? Let us audit what you've done for a low fixed fee.
